HEAD COACH DAVID DURDEN

SECOND SEASON AT MARYLAND • UC-IRVINE '98

David Durden is entering his second season as head coach for the Maryland men's and women's swimming programs. He was hired as head coach on August 18, 2005. During the 2005-06 season, he led the women's team to a 7-5 overall record, 4-4 ACC record, and fifth place finish at the ACC Championships where one woman, senior Sasha Malanina (Volgograd, Russia), was an ACC Champion in the 400-IM. Last year, he coached '06 graduate Krisztina Kovacs (Budapest, Hungary) and senior Sasha Malanina, who were both named All-American Honorable Mentions at the 2006 NCAA Championships. He also coached the 2005-06 Maryland men's team to an eighth place finish at the 2006 ACC Championships.

"Having an opportunity to get my first head coaching job at one of the top spots in the Atlantic Coast Conference is great," said Durden.

Before Maryland, Durden spent five seasons at Auburn University. During his last season at Auburn, he was the assistant head men's coach for the 2005 NCAA National Championship Team. Prior to that, he was an assistant coach for both the men's and women's programs at Auburn. "We feel that we've found an outstanding coach who knows what it takes to establish and lead a winning program," said Associate Athletics Director Troy Tucker. "He shares our values related to the balance between athletics, academics and student-athlete welfare."

In his time at Auburn, the Tiger men's and women's teams won six National Team Championships - the men winning in 2003, 2004 and 2005, and the women winning in 2002, 2003 and 2004. The Auburn women finished second at the NCAA Nationals in 2005.

Durden has also spent time at Auburn as the primary coach for a number of world-class, postgraduate swimmers who were preparing for World Championship and World University Games teams. He was the primary coach for multiple World Record Holders and NCAA Record Holders as well as the men's recruiting coordinator.

In 2004, Durden coached three swimmers who represented the United States at the Olympic Games. Durden served as the head coach for the Panama team at the 2004 Olympic Games and the 2003 Pan-American Games.

He is a NCAA Division I Certified Coach, a member of U.S. Swimming and a member of the American Swimming Coaches Association. For the past five years, he has been involved with the swim camps at Auburn, serving as the director last season.

Before coaching at Auburn, Durden served as an assistant for Irvine Novaquatics and Dr. Dave Salo, where he assisted in general coaching with the Olympic Trials Group and helped place four swimmers on the 2000 U.S. Olympic Team.

Durden is a 1998 graduate of the University of California-Irvine and earned a degree in electrical engineering.

He married the former Cathy Sursi in May of 2006. The couple resides in Crofton, Md.

FIRST SEASON
NORTHERN ILLINOIS '95

Jarod Schroeder joined the Maryland staff as an assistant coach for the men's and women's swimming and diving teams during the summer of 2006.

A 1995 graduate of Northern Illinois University, Schroeder was an assistant coach for the Northwestern swimming and diving program starting in 2000. As a coach of that perennial top-25 program, he mentored Olympic Trials qualifiers, NCAA qualifiers, and U.S. National Finalists.

In addition, Schroeder served as the head coach of the New Trier Swim Club in Winnetka, Illinois since 2002. While at New Trier, he developed Olympic Trials qualifiers, U.S. Open finalists, and U.S. National finalists.

After finishing a career at NIU in which he served as team captain and was a 2-time Illinois Collegiate Swimmer of the Year, Schroeder took on volunteer assistant coaching jobs at his alma mater and the University of Wisconsin.

Schroeder, elected to the NIU Athletics Hall of Fame in 2006, carried impressive stats during his swimming career. He was co-captain of the 1999 Pan-American Games team, where he was a double silver medalist. The previous year, he had participated in the 1998 Goodwill Games. While at NIU, he was three times named the Mid-America Conference Swimmer of the Year, earning seven individual conference titles and three Conference records.

"I'm really excited to become a part of Maryland Swimming," says Schroeder. "We have a young staff with a lot of National Team experience. It will be fun to work with Dave to bring Maryland Swimming and Diving to national prominence."

Schroeder was married to Liz Haag in August of 2005.

2006-07 WOMEN'S OUTLOOK

TERPS LOOK TO BUILD ON SUCCESS OF LAST SEASON

Last year, Maryland finished in fifth place with a 4-4 record in the ACC and a 7-5 record overall. With Dave Durden leading the Terps in his second season as head coach, the women's team looks to improve their conference placement. Coach Durden believes that the team's top swimmers, 1-8, can compete as good as or better than anyone in the ACC. The key to coming out on top will be developing a depth where swimmers 9-18 can compete with just as much of an impact.

This season, Maryland welcomes seven newcomers to the women's team. "It is exciting to have the youth that we have in our program this year," says Durden."Last year, on the women's side we only had two freshman girls, so to have seven this year is an infusion that our women's team really needed. The freshmen are tough trainers; they are tough racers and that is why they are here."

Durden says that the freshmen class is a very dynamic group that will flourish once they understand what it means to be a collegiate swimmer and what they need to do to be successful in a collegiate environment. Leading the freshmen class this season will be freshman Annie Broome (Knoxville, Tenn.) and freshman Nina Rossi (Princeton, N.J.). Broome and Rossi come to Maryland as Olympic Trial Qualifiers in the 200 fly. Durden expects then to have an immediate impact this season.

Annie Broome

Having a relatively young squad, Durden will depend on the four seniors to actively demonstrate an understanding for how the team trains and races. He will look to senior Natalie Ferdinand for leadership and guidance this season. Ferdinand has developed from being an exhibition level ACC swimmer to an ACC finalist last year in the 100-back. This season, Ferdinand has the ability to make an even larger jump she gains even more of an appreciation for how fast she is.

After shoulder surgery in 2005, senior Gigi deToll resumed training last January and came back to swim the remainder of the season. As a senior, deToll looks to once again swim at the national level. deToll won ACCs her freshman and sophomore years in the 100 fly and went on to swim at NCAAs in both 2004 and 2005.

At the 2006 ACC Championships, senior Kaleena Laputka captured three 17th place finishes in the 50 free and 100 back during preliminary competition. This season Durden believes that she will translate into a finalist at ACCs.

Nina Rossi

Senior Sasha Malanina was an honorable mention All-American last season and looks to take the next step and compete at the NCAA Championships again this year. Coach Durden believes she can do this. "She put together about four or five weeks of training last year that would rival any other athlete at the NCAA level. Now we just need to expand that over the course of six months to get her ready for NCAAs, says Durden.

In addition to a group of fresh talent and an experienced senior class ready to lead the team, the squad also welcomes back three juniors and two sophomores eager to build on strides made last year. Sophomore Yelena Skalinskaya and junior Maya Finkler each placed in the top 10 in two events at last year's ACCs. This should give them the confidence and motivation necessary to keep making improvements and take the team to the next level.

Durden (University of California-Irvine, '98) is excited to be entering his second season with the Terps, as he is "a year more experienced with the players already in the program." Kevin Clements (Auburn, '02) is also returning for his second season as assistant coach of the Terps. The staff welcomes two assistant coaches: Jarod Schroeder (Northern Illinois, '95) and Demerae Christianson (Auburn '04) who have a wealth of experience to offer the program. Also, Casey Moore (Maryland '00) will be the head diving coach this season. Durden comments that with Moore he "knows that the divers are being educated and that they will be brought to a level they have not experienced before."

The women's team is equipped with all the necessary components for a successful 2006-07 season. It will be beneficial that the team is scheduled to swim at North Carolina just two weeks before they swim at that same location for the ACC Championships. This will give them a chance to familiarize themselves with the venue and better prepare themselves to swim confidently at ACCs. The regular season begins Fri. Oct. 27 with a home meet against Johns Hopkins. ACC Competition begins in Durham, North Carolina on Sat. Nov. 4 against Duke and NC State.

2005-06 WOMEN'S REVIEW

TERPS IMPRESSIVE UNDER FIRST-YEAR COACH DURDEN

In 2005-06, expectations were tempered as the 16-woman team paled in comparison to the larger teams fielded by some of their top conference competition.

Nevertheless, the Terps' 2005-06 season was a success, as first-year head coach Dave Durden led the team to a 7-5 record and an impressive performance at the ACC Championships.

"We were a small team with 14 swimmers and 2 divers, but the presence that they had on deck was like a team of fifty," said a proud Durden. "It's hard to focus on one individual performance."

There were several outstanding performers for the Terps last season. None was better than junior Sasha Malanina, who won gold at the ACC Championships in the 400 IM. She also took silver in the 200 IM, and senior Krisztina Kovacs took silver in the 200-breast. Both eventually earned Honorable Mention All-American status at the NCAA Championships.

The season got off to an inauspicious start as the team went 1-2 in the ACC quad meet against Virginia Tech, Georgia Tech, and Florida State. Sophomore Maya Finkler got the first individual win of the season for the squad as she took the 200 free. Kovacs and Malanina also registered victories.

Wins against Duke and Miami put the women above .500 in the conference, and a fifth-place finish at the Terrapin Cup Invitational closed out the first half of the season.

During the break, several members of the team competed at the U.S. Open meet in Auburn, Alabama. Freshman Yelena Skalinskaya finished 16th overall in the 50 free, registering a time of 27.33. Junior Natalie Ferdinand, who was well on her way to a breakout season, qualified for the Central American and Caribbean Games in the 50 back.

The women earned their final victory of the season against N.C. State in Raleigh, where they won on the final event, the 200 free relay. The winning team was comprised of Skalinskaya, junior Kaleena Laputka, senior Barbara Sumrall, and Malanina.

Relays were a strong suit of the Terps all season, and they culminated the year with a third-place performance in the 200 medley relay at the ACC Championships. Senior Inbal Levavi, Kovacs, junior Gigi deToll, and Skalinskaya swam to a 1:42.04 to earn the medal.

The Terps managed to come away with a fifth place finish at the ACC Championships, showing the rest of the conference that they were going to be a factor.

"Our women's performance as a whole was extremely impressive," said Durden. "As a team, we scored more points per individual than any other school in the ACC."

The experience of hosting the conference meet was one that the first-year head coach relished, and the staff of the Natatorium at the Campus Recreation Center pulled the enormous task off without a hitch.

"The experience was wonderful, and I attribute a lot of that to Carrie Tupper, the aquatics director here at the Campus Recreation Center," Durden said. "The comments from a lot of the other ACC coaches reflect that. We're very fortunate to have this facility that looks brand new even though it's eight years old, and that's a testament to the people who take care of it."

Now with a year under his belt, Durden recognized the need to improve on last year's performance, but he saw a lot of positives from the season. "I think as a whole, the team did extraordinarily well," he said. "That was a pleasant surprise and was a testament to our athletes buying into what we're doing in terms of how they race."

2006-07 MEN'S OUTLOOK

TALENTED TERPS LOOK TO TAKE NEXT STEP FORWARD

This season, the 2006-07 Maryland men's swimming and diving team is eager to improve on last year's 3-8 overall record, 0-8 ACC record, and eighth place finish at the ACC Championships. The team welcomes eight freshmen and one sophomore transfer this season. Overall, this year's squad is young; head coach Dave Durden comments, "Not only are we young, but we are youthful. It is just going to be a process for them to develop."

In addition to the plethora of young talent on the team, the Terps will be led by four strong and experienced seniors. Coach Durden believes that senior Danny Gray will continue to step up in the free events and will go to NCAAs and score. Concerning Gray last season, Durden says, "In any other year at the NCAA level he would have made it, but unfortunately the standards just got really fast last year, and he was not one of the guys invited to the NCAA meet. Now it's time for him to get his ticket automatically."

Danny Gray

Aleksandar Damjanic

Eric Thomasson

Durden refers to senior Tony Miller as being a true student athlete; a person who academically and athletically exemplifies what Maryland Swimming is all about. Miller is a chemical engineering major and recently swam in the World Championship Trials for the first time in two events. Two years ago Miller saw limited action at the conference and national level, but has developed into a triple event scorer looking to be in the final eight at the conference meet this season.

Freshman Aleksandar Damjanic (Zagreb, Croatia) is the only international swimmer on the squad this season and will be a great addition to the team, bringing depth to the fly events. He has shown his skill in the water during the early team practices this season and Durden is excited to see what he can do when he is put into a race environment.

Durden feels that to improve on last season's performance, the team needs to understand how good they are. He feels that this is a team of good swimmers but they need to develop the right mindset in order to let that show. As an example, Durden notices that junior Eric Thomasson had a wonderful summer; he is more confident and has increased his level of competition. Durden believes Thomasson's confidence is the result of realizing he is a strong swimmer. Fortunately this attitude change has spread to the entire team. Durden sees the rest of the team adopting this culture of understanding as well. "Despite what I was telling them, they probably moved throughout last season thinking that they were about an eigth-place ACC team. Once they got to ACCs and saw how fast everyone was swimming, they started to believe in each other, how good they were, and how good they could be."

The men's team begins the 2006-07 Season on Fri., Oct. 27 at home against Johns Hopkins. Their first ACC meet will be held in Durham, North Carolina against N.C. State and Duke on Sat. Nov. 4. Maryland will host four home meets this season, including the Terrapin Invitational on Nov. 16-18. This year's ACCs will be held in Chapel Hill, N.C. on Feb. 21-24 and the NCAA Championships will be held in Minneapolis, Minn. on Mar. 15-17.

On Sat., Feb. 3, the Terps are set to swim at Virginia, who are the defending ACC Champions. Durden says, "We have athletes that are competing at the highest level, we have athletes at World Championship Trials, and we have athletes that will go to NCAAs this year. We just need to start grasping that and understanding that."

2005-06 MEN'S REVIEW

TERPS SHOW PROMISE AT ACC CHAMPIONSHIPS

Dave Durden's first season at the helm of the Terrapin swimming and diving program was one of transition as a small squad developed under its new coach. Led by junior All-ACC performer Danny Gray, the Terps finished with a record of 3-8 overall, and with plenty of signs predicting an improved performance in the future.

The season opened with an ACC quad meet against Virginia Tech, Georgia Tech, and Florida State. Although the Terps dropped three tough decisions, they were buoyed by some strong individual performances. Gray, in his first swim as a Terp after transferring from James Madison, won the 50 free in 20.96, signaling the beginning of a successful year in the event.

Still, the coaches and team recognized that a lot of changes needed to be made if the Terps were going to be successful. "It was a sobering reality to see where we were," said a reflective Durden. "Our team was a little bit out of shape, and we had to spend the first half of the year reteaching our athletes about how to race and score at an elite level. It didn't get clicking as a team until we got into January."

A sixth place finish in the Terrapin Cup Invitational ended the first half of the season. The team regrouped and continued training with the new coaching staff throughout the month of December.

In January the Terps dove headfirst into the ACC schedule. Coming from the Southeastern Conference, Coach Durden wasn't sure what to expect from ACC competition. What he saw proved to be a challenge, but one that he was excited to tackle.

With a schedule that included powerhouses NC State, North Carolina, and eventual league champion Virginia on consecutive weeks to close out the season, it did not take Durden long to figure out that the ACC was not a swimming conference to take lightly.

Although the Terps did not register a conference win during the regular season, they had an encouraging performance against North Carolina when the Tar Heels visited College Park. Freshman Eric Cullen showed his progress, winning the 100 breast in 58.00. The Terps dominated the meet and junior Tim Shepard took third in 59.27.

Going into the ACC Championships, the Terps were a revitalized team, despite the disappointing results of the year. Surrounded on the deck by their stiffest competition, the team was not fazed, and it let the ACC know whose pool it was.

"I tell my team not to focus on any other team but only on what they're doing," said Durden. "We need to have that energy go into our team. A good indication of how a team prepares is always to watch them on the Saturday morning session at the ACC Championships."

That morning, several Terps had swims that set up the team to earn points in their final session of the season later that afternoon. Junior Tony Miller paced the team with a tenth-place finish in the 200 breast. Cullen and Shepard continued to impress in the breaststroke events, also earning points in the 200 breast. Senior Erik Putkonen took 13th in the 200 back, swimming a 1:50.29. Seniors Chris Starr and Andrew Foran and sophomores Kenny Golaszewski and Eric Thomasson also swam in the evening session.

The performance of the meet was turned in on Thursday, when Gray was second in the 50 free with a personal-best time of 19.91. A conference record won the event. Freshman Dong Kim also proved that he was going to be a promising swimmer as he, who had joined the team halfway through the season, won the consolation final with a swim of 20.37.

The 200 free relay team, which consisted of freshman Andrew Weinert, senior Pat Doyle, Kim, and Gray, barely missed winning a medal. Their time of 1:20.81 was just .06 behind the third place team.

"What was nice about last year was that it allowed me and my staff to set the foundation for where this program is going, and to be really hands on about the direction of the program," said Durden as he reflected back on his first season as a head coach. "We were able to establish what we want from our athletes and where we expect ourselves to be as a program."

"It wasn't an individual that performed, and I think it took a full season for them to understand a lot of the work that we were doing in the first few months," he said. "Going into this season, they're more intelligent as swimmers. The intensity that they've built up over the last twelve months is really a testament to our team."

That progression has already showed for Gray and Miller, who competed this summer at the World Championship Trials in Irvine, California, in an effort to qualify for the Olympic Trials and ultimately the 2008 Olympic Games in Beijing, China.

Honored after the season as a team by the CSCAA for their academic achievements, the Terps are ready to translate the work they've put in over the first year of Coach Durden's tenure into success in the water. "It's been a pleasant surprise and a testament to our athletes buying into what we're doing in terms of how they race," said Durden. The young Terps are looking forward to the season, and expect to see results as they get back in the pool.

"STRIVE FOR CLARITY, BUT ACCEPT AND UNDERSTAND AMBIGUITY."

That phrase captures one way in which an educated person approaches the world and its challenges. Students who graduate from the University of Maryland have been exposed to the tools that allow them to put that perspective to work. Imparting such a perspective may be an ambitious project for undergraduate education, but to aim for anything less would be unworthy of a great university's goals for its students. Thirteen years ago, Promises to Keep, a plan for undergraduate education at Maryland, articulated those goals so eloquently we repeat them here.

Undergraduate education at Maryland "aims to provide students with a sense of identity and purpose, a concern for others, a sense of responsibility for the quality of life around them, a continuing eagerness for knowledge and understanding, and a foundation for a lifetime of personal enrichment."

As we learn with and from one another, we try to "develop human values," "celebrate tolerance and fairness," "contribute to the social conscience," "monitor and assess private and collective assumptions," and "recognize the glory, tragedy and humor of the human condition." Your years at the University of Maryland can provide you with all the tools you need to accomplish these goals. Students here are "educated to be able to read with perception and pleasure, write and speak with clarity and verve, handle numbers and computation proficiently, reason mathematically, generate clear questions and find probable arguments, reach substantiated conclusions and accept ambiguity."

AND WE ALSO HOPE YOU ENJOY THE JOURNEY.

2006-07 MARYLAND SWIMMING & DIVING

THE UNIVERSITY OF MARYLAND

THE CAMPUS

By virtually every measure of quality, the University of Maryland has gained national recognition as one of the fastest-rising comprehensive research institutions in the country. The momentum of recent years has poised the university to move it into the top ranks of higher education and take leadership in shaping the research university of the 21st century.

The university has enjoyed a decade of momentum in all of the areas that affect quality. The average high school GPA of entering students has zoomed from 3.01 to nearly 3.90, and the average SATs are now more than 1270. The student body is a model of diversity, with minorities making up more than 33 percent of all students, and at least one graduate and undergraduate student from every state in the nation.

The university has 79 graduate and undergraduate programs ranked in the Top 25 by U.S. News and World Report, up from just one program in 1991.

Sponsored research and outreach has nearly tripled in the same 10-year period, exceeding $350 million last year. Private giving also has increased, and the university last year concluded its first campaign by topping its $350 million goal by more than $100 million. Alumni Association membership has been growing at an average rate of 10 percent a year since 1992.

One of the largest research universities in the United States, Fall 2005 enrollment was 25,442 undergraduate and 9,927 graduate students. There are 94 undergraduate programs, 89 master's programs, 70 doctoral programs and one first professional degree program. More than 100 centers and institutes are engaged in research and outreach.

Faculty at the University of Maryland, in all fields of knowledge, are engaged at the highest levels of national and international concern. The university's location near the center of federal policy-making and international political and economic activity enables it to play an active role in research and analysis of public policy.

Maryland is one of 30 public universities in the prestigious 63-member Association of American Universities and the only public institution in the Maryland-D.C. area with membership in the nation's most distinguished honor society, Phi Beta Kappa.

DID YOU KNOW?

In 1991, Maryland had one program listed among Top 25 entrants in the U.S. News & World Report Rankings. Maryland now has 79 programs ranked among the nation's elite, and the university is ranked 18th nationally among public universities.

A report card published in Technology Review rated the top U.S. universities in their quest for intellectual property, commercial partners and profits. Johns Hopkins University and the University of Maryland (28th) were the Mid-Atlantic (Delaware, Maryland, Virginia, District of Columbia) schools to make the "campus patenting" top 50 list.

Black Issues In Higher Education ranked the university fourth nationally in bachelor's degrees earned by African-American students at traditionally white schools. Maryland ranks first in African-American undergraduate degrees in social sciences and history.

The Wall Street Journal ranked the Robert H. Smith School of Business No. 15 a mong the world's business schools. Maryland is the top-ranked school in the Mid-Atlantic region (Delaware, Maryland, District of Columbia, Virginia). The Financial Times of London ranked the Robert H. Smith School of Business No. 3 in value for money, No. 6 overall among U.S. public business schools and No. 12 in placement rate.

In the undergraduate program rankings released by U.S. News & World Report both the A. James Clark School of Engineering (No. 22) and the Robert H. Smith School of Business (No. 22) were ranked among the top 25.

DR. C.D. MOTE

UNIVERSITY PRESIDENT
CALIFORNIA '59
EIGHTH YEAR

As the 19th president of the University of Maryland, C. D. "Dan" Mote Jr. has presided since 1998 over a university that is claiming a well-earned position in the top echelon of research universities in the nation. An internationally-respected researcher and member of the National Academy of Engineering, Dr. Mote is Glenn L. Martin Institute Professor of Engineering. He serves on the Technology Council of Maryland, is co-chair of the Potomac Conference of the Greater Washington Board of Trade and heads its Technology Transfer Committee.

Under President Mote's leadership, Maryland has received national and international notice for innovative undergraduate education opportunities, high-impact research and academic programs, outstanding performing arts, and athletes and athletic teams competitive with the best in the nation.

"The future of the state depends on this university," says Mote. "It is the State of Maryland's most important asset." As president, Dan Mote has been determined to make that asset even greater by nourishing a culture of excellence and civility across the campus, strengthening the university's connections with its various stakeholders, building partnerships with State and national corporations and federal agencies and achieving distinction as an institution where discovery takes place every day and everywhere. The university's progress can be seen in all areas, from its nationally-ranked programs to its success in building external partnerships to its state-of-the-art facilities.

QUALITY PROGRAMS

Over the past decade, the quality of Maryland's programs and reputation has climbed steadily. In 2003, the University of Maryland moved up to 17th place among public universities in U.S. News & World Report rankings, up from 30th in 1998. We currently have 44 graduate and undergraduate programs and units ranked in the top 15 by U.S. News & World Report, up from 5 in 1995.

While our academic successes have spread across the board, the university has emerged as a true powerhouse in business, computer science, earth sciences, engineering, environmental policy, education and journalism. Maryland is one of only 10 public and private universities that have their programs in computer science, mathematics, physics, and engineering each ranked in the top 20. Our College of Education is ranked in the top 20 nationally and 5 of its programs are in the top 10.

ATHLETIC EXCELLENCE

Mote sees athletics as an integral part of the university experience. Indeed athletic success more often than not reflects academic success, he notes. For example, all four of the teams that played in the 2002 NCAA basketball Final Four, including Maryland, are members of the prestigious Association of American Universities, the organization that comprises the leading research and academic universities in North America. "That's no accident," Mote says. "Institutions that are committed to excellence tend to be excellent in every endeavor. Our successes in football, basketball, lacrosse and other sports reflects our culture of quality as much as our successes in engineering, business, education and journalism."

FACULTY STATURE

Dr. Mote believes a university's quality is built by its faculty, and under his leadership, Maryland continues to attract the best faculty available. The university recruited a Nobel Laureate in Physics in 2001 and three more Pulitzer Prize winners (to join three already on the faculty). More than 30 of our faculty are members of the national academies, the highest professional recognition attainable.

DEBORAH A. YOW

ATHLETICS DIRECTOR • 13TH YEAR AT MARYLAND

Deborah A. Yow is in the 13th year of her outstanding tenure as director of athletics at the University of Maryland, a tenure that has seen unprecedented success and achievement in Maryland athletics. Each year has brought steady and continued improvement and accomplishment in Terrapin athletics. In Yow's 12 years at Maryland, the Terrapins have won a remarkable 13 national championships and graduated student-athletes at an enviable rate as Maryland athletics has soared to sustained new heights among the nation's elite intercollegiate athletic programs.

The comprehensive success of Terrapin athletics under Debbie Yow's leadership is a clear and compelling testimony of her values of excellence, teamwork and accountability.

Likewise, her prior election to the presidency of the National Association of Collegiate Directors of Athletics is an indication of the wide respect with which she is regarded among its 6,100 members representing 1,600 colleges and universities in the U.S. and Canada.

She was honored recently by Street and Smith's Sports Business Journal as one of the 20 most influential people in intercollegiate athletics and she has received the Carl Maddox Sport Management Award presented by the United States Sports Academy for excellence in athletics administration.

Dr. Yow was selected to serve on the U.S. Department of Education's Commission on Opportunities in Athletics to review the status of Federal Title IX regulations. She recently served as the chair of the Atlantic Coast Conference Committee on Television. The committee is charged with overseeing the league's TV contracts and dealing with issues related to television. Yow led the committee during the successful renegotiation of comprehensive, multi-year ACC football and basketball contracts with ABC, ESPN, ESPN2 and syndication entities.

Additionally, she has represented intercollegiate athletics with presentations in a number of prominent settings such as the Harvard University School of Law conference on "Shaping the Future of Collegiate Athletics" and the Street and Smith's Sports Business Journal "National Forum on the Direction of Intercollegiate Athletics" in New York. She was also recently inducted into the State of Maryland Women's Hall of Fame and the North Carolina Sports Hall of Fame, joining fellow Terp Buck Williams as honorees.

Yow, who has served on the NCAA Management Council and the NCAA Division I Budget Committee, is a strong and steady voice on behalf of intercollegiate athletics in America.

Since taking over as AD at Maryland in 1994, she and her staff have:

- Transformed Terrapin athletics into a responsive, goal-oriented organization with 27 sports and more than 700 student-athletes.
- Balanced all 12 of the department's annual budgets (none of the budgets were balanced in the 10 years prior to her arrival). The budget has now reached $52 million annually and the multi-million dollar accumulated operating debt which her administration inherited has been eradicated.
- Greatly enhanced the academic support services provided for student-athletes, with an enviable exhausted eligibility graduation rate of approximately 85 percent for student athletes at Maryland.
- Led the Terrapins to a national all-sports ranking in the upper 7 percent of all NCAA Division I institutions.
- Significantly expanded marketing and fund-raising efforts on behalf of Terrapin athletics. As a result, private gifts to athletics have increased over 350 percent and corporate sponsorship revenues have increased by over 300 percent during her tenure at Maryland.
- Continued to dramatically improve venues and facilities for the department's 27 teams. The Comcast Center for men's and women's basketball and other sports that use the facility is a prime example of the dramatic upgrade of athletic facilities.
- Implemented a strategic management model.
- Developed a comprehensive Internet strategy with management, marketing and fund-raising applications.
- Significantly improved customer care in every area of Maryland athletics.

The most recent achievements of Maryland athletics are exceptional:

- Maryland captured a remarkable four national championships during the 2005-06 academic season.
- In 2005-2006, the Terrapins achieved the highest student-athlete graduation rate in th history of Maryland athletics.
- Maryland was selected by U.S. News & World Report as one of the Top 20 athleti programs in the nation (for overall quality and competitive excellence).
- In 2005-06, Maryland Athletics won the inaugural PRISM Award as the most well-manage Division I collegiate athletics program in the nation.
- In men's basketball, the Terps won the Atlantic Coast Conference title over Duke in th championship game in 2004 and won the NCAA National Championship in 2002. Unde Coach Gary Williams, the men's basketball team appeared in 11 consecutive NCA Tournaments.
- Maryland was ranked as the sixth-finest athletic program in the nation by the Laboratory fo the Study of Intercollegiate Athletics, based on comprehensive criteria such as graduatio rates, financial efficiency, equity effectiveness and competitive excellence.
- Women's basketball won the 2006 NCAA National Championship under head coac Brenda Frese, completing an amazing turnaround that saw the program go from a 10-1 record to a National Championship in four seasons.
- In football, the Terps won the 2001 Atlantic Coast Conference championship and playe in the 2002 Orange Bowl, followed that with an 11-win season and a 30-3 victory ove the University of Tennessee in the Peach Bowl, again followed by a 10-win season an a 41-7 win over West Virginia in the Gator Bowl on New Year's Day 2004. Graduatio rates in football are near 80 percent and the program was recently recognized by th American Football Coaches Association for its academic excellence under Coach Ralp Friedgen.
- Additionally, Maryland is one of only two universities in the nation to win Nationa Championships in men's basketball, women's basketball and football. Stanford is th only other NCAA Division I institution to achieve that mark.
- Set an ACC single-game record for women's basketball attendance by drawing 17,24 to a regular-season game at Comcast Center.
- Hired Dave Cottle, the third-winningest active men's lacrosse coach in the U.S., wh guided his team to the NCAA Final Four three times in the past four seasons.
- Field Hockey earned a National Championship in 2005-06 and has become a perenni participant in the Final Four in that sport.
- Women's Lacrosse has continued its winning ways with seven national championship from 1995-2001, with additional Final Four appearances.
- Men's Soccer has appeared in four consecutive Final Fours and won the NCAA Nationa Championship in the 2005-06 season.
- Football facilities have been significantly enhanced with team house, stadium and practic field upgrades. The Academic Center was the first improvement, as it took priority ove all other initiatives.
- The Terrapins have moved into the new $125 million Comcast Center, housing athleti department offices and seating for 18,000 fans for basketball and other events.
- In 2005-06, 13 Maryland teams competed in postseason play.
- The productivity, morale, and the competitive and academic achievement of Terrapi athletics are exceptional and continue to gain momentum.

Regarding the many achievements of Terrapin athletics over the past 12 years, Yow says "We are pleased, but we are not satisfied... our vision is to be one of the Top 5 program in the nation consistently... we see no reason to settle for less."

Yow is known for her goal-oriented and proactive management style. She consistentl inspires and challenges those around her to "raise our sights and sharpen our tools... t work hard and work smart... to recognize that our only limitations are those that w place upon ourselves."

As a manager and a leader, she clearly models these principles. She is the only know current AD in NCAA Division I who has hired both the National Coach of the Year in footba (while at Maryland) and the National Coach of the Year in men's basketball (while at Sain Louis University). In 2002, she brought to the University of Maryland Brenda Frese, who at tha time was the National Coach of the Year in women's basketball. Four years later, Frese led th Terrapins to the NCAA National Championship at the Women's Final Four in Boston.

She has authored numerous articles and books on athletics management and huma behavior, and is a respected leader in intercollegiate athletics in the United States.

ACADEMIC SUPPORT AND CAREER DEVELOPMENT

The University of Maryland is committed to providing the highest quality education to all of its students. The Department of Intercollegiate Athletics strives to provide student-athletes excellent opportunities to participate in an intercollegiate athletics program of the highest quality, with the result that their athletics participation becomes an integral and valued component of their total educational experience at the university.

Terrapin student-athletes will find that the same hard work and discipline that has earned them success in athletics competition is also required in the classroom. Balancing the significant time demands and responsibilities required to be a successful student-athlete at the highest collegiate level is no small task. Therefore, as a result of their commitment to representing the university through athletics, Terrapin student-athletes are able to utilize support programs designed to meet their specific needs.

Led by associate athletics director Anton Goff, the mission of the Academic Support and Career Development Unit (ASCDU) is to provide quality developmental programs and need-based services that will enhance academic progress, facilitate career development, and encourage the psychosocial growth of all UM student-athletes. Laura Meckley (right) works with the swimming and diving teams.

The Gossett Academic Support and Career Development Center for Terrapin student-athletes, named for long-time Terp supporters Barry and Mary Gossett, is located in the Comcast Center. It features a study center that includes 25 desktop computers, a tutoring center, a classroom, a CHAMPS/Life Skills resource room and individual offices for six professional academic counselors, a director of ILP programs, an assistant program coordinator and two graduate assistants. In addition, a new academic wing was added to the Gossett football team house last Fall. It features offices for two counselors, three learning specialist, and a graduate assistant; as well as a quiet study area, 29-desk computer lab, classroom, tutor rooms and classroom/lab for the individualized learning program.

Academic courses, programs and services offered by ASCDU include the following:

- Student-athlete orientation
- Academic counseling
- NCAA academic eligibility monitoring
- Academic enrichment and career development presentations and workshops
- Accredited tutorial support
- Individualized learning program
- EDCP 108-K (College learning strategies and skills)
- EDCP 108-M (Math learning strategies and skills)
- UNIV 100 (First-year transitions to the university)

MARYLAND GAMEPLAN

The Maryland Gameplan is intended to assist graduating Terrapin student-athletes as they begin the job search process. It is distributed to more than 500 corporations and businesses across the country, in addition to being featured on the M Club website. Prospective employers are introduced to our graduating student-athletes with resume information relative to academic, career and personal achievements. The Maryland Gameplan directory is produced annually in collaboration with the M Club.

CAREER NETWORKING NIGHT

Because career development is an ongoing process, ASCDU provides a variety of programs for student-athletes throughout the year. Professional assistance with resume-writing, interviewing skills, graduate school search and job search is readily available to all student-athletes. During the spring semester ASCDU hosts the Career Networking Night, where student-athletes can learn about career interests and career planning. Unlike typical "job fairs," the purpose of this program is to allow student-athletes to explore multiple career opportunities by speaking directly to individuals in their chosen areas of interest. Employers at the Career Networking Night recognize the marketable qualities student-athletes have gained through athletic participation. Student-athletes learn about opportunities for internships and full-time jobs.

STUDENT-ATHLETE ADVISORY COUNCIL

The Student-Athlete Advisory Council (S.A.A.C.) plays an important role in the Department of Intercollegiate Athletics. It consists of two representatives from each varsity sport and meets on a regular basis with representatives from the athletic administration. The S.A.A.C. mission is to enhance the total student-athlete experience by developing leadership skills, promoting student-athlete welfare and fostering a positive student-athlete image on the Maryland campus, local area and nationally.

CHAMPS/LIFE SKILLS PROGRAMS

ASCDU houses the NCAA's (National Collegiate Athletic Association) Challenging Athletes' Minds for Personal Success (C.H.A.M.P.S.) Life Skills Program. The ASCDU staff, in collaboration with various other Department of Intercollegiate Athletics' units and campus resources, strives to provide a systematic personal development program designed to reach each student-athlete based on his or her individual needs. The focus of the program is on the individual academically, athletically and emotionally, and on the changing needs and skills of that individual in the years during college and after graduation. The menu of presentations, workshops and seminars is a comprehensive and balanced system of "life learning" programs promoted for use by each varsity sport team.

NCAA CHAMPS/Life Skills PROGRAM

HIGHLIGHTS OF THE CHAMPS/LIFE SKILLS PROGRAMS:

- Support efforts of every student-athlete toward intellectual development and graduation
- Use athletics as preparation for success in life
- Meet the changing needs of student-athletes
- Promote respect for diversity among student-athletes
- Enhance interpersonal relationships in the lives of student-athletes
- Assist student-athletes in building positive self-esteem
- Enable student-athletes to make meaningful contributions to their communities
- Promote ownership by the student-athletes of their academic, athletic, personal and social responsibilities
- Enhance partnerships between the NCAA, member institutions and their communities for the purpose of education
- Encourage the development of leadership skills

CHAMPS/LIFE SKILLS PROGRAMS COMMITMENT STATEMENTS

Commitment to Academic Excellence To support the academic progress of the student-athlete toward intellectual development and graduation.

Commitment to Athletic Excellence To build philosophical foundations for the development of athletic programs that are broad-based, equitable and dedicated to the well-being of the student-athlete.

Commitment to Personal Development To support the development of a well-balanced lifestyle for student-athletes, encouraging emotional well-being, personal growth and decision-making skills.

Commitment to Career Development To encourage the student-athlete to develop and pursue career and life goals.

Commitment to Service To engage student-athletes in service to his/her campus and surrounding communities.

ACADEMIC SUPPORT FOR RETURNING ATHLETES PROGRAM

The Academic Support for Returning Athletes Program was created in 1986 to support the academic efforts of former varsity student-athletes at the University of Maryland, College Park. In 1989, ASRAP was assigned by the President's Office to the Academic Achievement Program and enrolled 40 students that year. As a member of the National Consortium for Academics and Sports (NCAS), the University of Maryland is committed to assisting its former athletes with degree completion. A key component of the program is community outreach. Each returning student completes a "workship" that allows the cost of tuition and fees to be exchanged for community services with youth. In 2002, ASRAP moved into the ASCDU.

EPPLEY RECREATION CENTER

Opened on Jan. 31, 1998, the Eppley Recreation Center Natatorium at the University of Maryland is one of the premier swimming and diving venues in the country. Featured in such national publications as Swimming Technique and International Aquatics magazines, the Eppley Recreation Center Natatorium not only benefits the Maryland swimming and diving teams, but also the University of Maryland community itself.

The Eppley Recreation Center Natatorium was part of the $40 million Eppley Recreation Center. It features one 50x25-yard pool with two movable bulkheads and an underwater sound system. There are two one-meter diving boards and two three-meter diving platforms. The natatorium pool holds more than 1.5 million gallons of water.

With seating for more than 1,000 spectators, the Eppley Recreation Center Natatorium has and will play host to such national and regional events as the 1999, 2002 and 2006 ACC Championships and the YMCA Nationals in the summer of 1999, 2000, 2001, 2002, 2003 and 2004. The 1999 and 2000 FINA World Cups were held at the Eppley Recreation Center Natatorium, making it the focus of national and international attention during the championships. The facility also hosted the 2003 USA Swimming Summer Long Course National Championships.

In addition to the natatorium, the Eppley Recreation Center also has fitness and weight-lifting equipment, indoor basketball and volleyball courts, and an indoor track. A large outdoor pool complements the Eppley Recreation Center and Natatorium, finishing a facility that is one of a kind and can only be found at the University of Maryland.
